

Databrary

Permission to Share Recordings of Child

Overview

This form requests permission to include video/audio recordings or still images of your child in a secure data library on the Internet (databrary.org). The library allows authorized researchers to share data. Data sharing will help researchers to learn more and will lead to faster progress in our understanding of human development.

Giving permission to share is entirely separate from giving consent to participate in a research study. You do not have to give permission to share your child's video/audio recordings or still images in the library. Your choice will not affect your receipt of payment if offered for your child's participation in this or future studies.

What will be shared?

With your permission, we will include video/audio recordings or still images of your child in the library.

Will the information be confidential (private)?

The information will be confidential (private). All of your child's information will be identified by a code number, not by name. No information will be included in the library about how to contact you or your family.

Your child's image and/or voice may be seen or heard on video/audio recordings or still images. Your child's name and/or your name may be spoken aloud. Your image and/or voice and those of visitors or other members of your family may also be seen or heard; if the study takes place in your home, aspects of your home may be seen or heard. Someone might be able to identify you or your child or other people unintentionally. But, the authorized researchers with access to the library promise to keep confidential the identities of all people in the video/audio recordings or still images.

Who can access information in the library?

Only authorized researchers have access to information in the library. Researchers who are granted access must sign a contract that requires them to maintain confidentiality (keep information private) and not to use information for commercial purposes. Researchers promise to treat information in the library with the same high standards of care that they treat information collected in their own laboratories.

How long will information remain in the library?

Information in the library will be preserved indefinitely in a secure location. We do not intend to delete the information. We intend to store the information so that future researchers may be able to use it.

If in the future you no longer wish to have your child's video/audio recordings or still images stored in the library, please contact Databrary at ethics@databrary.org.

Permissions

Permission to share with authorized researchers

☐ I give permission to share my child's video/audio recordings or still images with authorized researchers in a secure data library.

Permission to share excerpts with the public

☐ I give permission for authorized researchers to select excerpts from my child's video/audio recordings or still images and to share excerpts with the public for scientific and/or educational purposes.

I trust that authorized researchers will use professional judgment and uphold ethical principles in determining which excerpts to share.

Compensation

There will be no compensation to you or to your child for the use of information in the library.

Signatures

My signature indicates that I understand this document and agree to what it says.

Child's name: _____

Parent/Guardian's name: _____

Parent/Guardian's signature: _____ Date: _____

Researcher obtaining permission: _____ Date: _____

We will give you a copy of this form for your records. If you have any questions about the data-sharing library, please send email to ethics@databrary.org. For questions about your rights as a research participant, you may contact [APPROPRIATE CONTACT FOR LOCAL INSTITUTION].